Welcome to Bristol

Congratulations, you're starting an exciting new role in Bristol. Before you can actually move and start your new role, you need to know where to move.

Bristol is a vibrant city with a whole host of different areas to consider. It can be daunting to know how to move to a new city when you've possibly only visited once or twice before. The main thing is to do research, research, research!

It's essential to visit a few areas to see which one feels right for you. To help you narrow down your search here is a brief description of some popular areas.

Clifton

A picturesque and very popular area within Bristol. Great views and cafes, bars and independent shops. It's one of the most sought-after areas to move to. Trains run to Avonmouth station

Totterdown and Temple Meads

Creative and brightly coloured houses and artistic area, more affordable than Clifton and central with good transport links.

Redcliffe and the City Centre

Property is springing up all over this area, it's popular and very well connected to transport and shopping and nightlife.

Horfield

Good for young professionals and students. Close to the university and a nice diverse area to live.

Avonmouth

It's close to the office and lies on the bank of the River Avon. Houses here are a mix of Victorian terraces and 1930s and 1950s houses. The village has a few local shops but it also walkable to Shirehampton high street.

Top tips for moving

- ✔ Visit the local area, check out cafes, pubs, gym, supermarkets nearby.
- ✔ Change your address and notify as priority important companies e.g. bank, credit cards, amazon etc. Also register for Council Tax.
- ✔ Notify utility companies and take meter readings the day you move in. It can be tempting to bump this down the priority list but the sooner you start receiving bills you can start to budget and won't have any nasty surprises a few months down the line.
- ✔ Understand your monthly budget and stick to it! The first paycheck is always the best one, however make sure you don't go too crazy too soon.
- ✔ Register with a local GP and find a dentist.
- ✔ Pack survival box to unpack on the first day with kettle, teabags, sugar, mug, toilet roll and cleaning products.
- ✔ Be realistic, don't pack the kitchen sink.

Depending on what you're moving into will dictate what you actually need. Shared houses will be (usually) set up with a Hoover, kettle etc.

- ✔ Ask before you move in what furniture you will have available in the room/flat when you get there. Then borrow/buy what you need. Be minimalistic. This may not be your forever home, and what you buy now may not be needed next move.
- ✔ Be nice to your family and friends! You may need their help with actually physically moving as well as cleaning/helping with any IKEA flatpack furniture you have etc.

House share or going it alone?

It's also important to consider if you want to look for a flatshare or rent alone.

There are a host of benefits in considering renting a room in a shared house/flat. It'll be cheaper, and you'll potentially make new friends which is always helpful when settling in.

Alternatively, you may be ready to move on and make the first steps towards living independently and living on your own. It'll be more expensive and you'll have no one to split the bills with, however, you'll also have no one to use your food and finish off the last of the milk!
